WEBINAR INVITATION

Mapping Tomorrow: STEM Education and Environmental Engagement with EUthmappers

Time: Dec 12, 2023 10:00 CET

Join us for a special event focused on humanitarian and environmental mapping powered by the EUthmappers project, co-founded through the ERASMUS+ Program.

The event will take place on 12.12.2023 at 10.00 CET on-line and will present the Handbook for teachers, students and future mappers introducing novel pedagogical methodologies for Secondary Schools!

The webinar is hosted by University of Prešov in collaboration with Urban2020 Association.

Be prepared to explore the mission and objectives of this Training Package, together with the benefits, and unique features that can be enabled through it. A practical demonstration will showcase how the OpenStreetMap platform and instruments around it can contribute to map our world with open geospatial tools. The event will finish with a roundtable moderated by Politecnico de Milano and the Technical University of Madrid, giving participants the chance to directly discuss with the developers of the Handbook.
